Medicaid Program Changes

- Medicaid Patient-centered Medical Homes (PCMH)

This is part of the governor's Multi-Payer Medical Home Collaborative. IHA is a member of the Collaborative.

- Medicaid Community Care Networks (CCN)

This is a provider based network approach to Medicaid managed care. It is part of Idaho's State Multi-Payer Innovation Model (SIM) grant project from CMS.

Medicaid Patient Centered Medical Homes

- In 2010 Governor Otter Established the Multi-Payer Medical Home Collaborative to create a more coordinated approach to care for patients with certain chronic conditions and at least one of the identified risk factors.

- Chronic Conditions:

- Diabetes type 1&2
- Asthma
- Mental Illness

Risk Factors: Hypertension, Dyslipidemia, Tobacco Use, BMI>25, Coronary Arterial Disease, Disease of the Respiratory System

PCMH Enhanced Payment

For patients that qualify under the program, PCMH practices/clinics will be paid $15 per month by Medicaid instead of the lower Healthy Connections fee. Private insurance payment will vary.

The additional payment is intended to cover the cost of care coordination and the attainment of NCQA medical home recognition.

Currently Medicaid, Blue Cross, Regence Blue Shield and Pacific Source are participating in the pilot program that began in January.

Medicaid Community Care Networks (CCN)

- The 2011 Legislature declared that Medicaid was unsustainable.
- Passed House Bill 260 mandating a move to managed care.
  - Improve current healthcare delivery system
  - Institute gain sharing, risk sharing or capitation
  - Increase participant accountability

Joint Managed Care Forum

- In December of 2011 the Department of Health and Welfare, the Idaho Hospital Association, the Idaho Medical Association and the Idaho Primary Care Association jointly hosted a forum on managed care.
  - IHA hired a consultant to explore alternatives to traditional MCO models
  - Provider-based managed care was presented as an alternative MCOs

NASHP/North Carolina Grant

- Shortly after the joint health care forum, NASHP solicited grant applications for a State Learning Transformation opportunity based on the experience of the Community Care North Carolina Program.
- A coalition from Idaho applied for the grant and was selected to participate.
- After a visit to North Carolina the coalition decided to pursue an adaptation of their CCN Model.

Key Components of the Idaho Community Care Network (ICCN) Model

CMS/CMMI SIM Grant

- The coalition developed an application for Governor Otter to apply for a State Innovation Model (SIM) Grant offered by CMS' Center for Medicare and Medicaid Innovation.
- The state was awarded $3 million for the purpose of designing the CCN managed care delivery system for Idaho.
- The grant was for a multi-payer design which put the coalition better in line with the Governor's multi-payer medical home initiative which would be leveraged by the CCN model.
