

April 11, 2016

The Honorable Andy Slavitt
Acting Administrator
Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services
U.S. Department of Health and Human Services
7500 Security Boulevard
Baltimore, MD 21244

Dear Acting Administrator Slavitt:

We are writing to express our concerns with the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services' (CMS) upcoming release of the Hospital Compare Star Ratings, scheduled to be publicly released in April 2016. While we support the public reporting of provider quality data, we are concerned that the current Star Ratings system may not accurately take into account hospitals that treat patients with low socioeconomic status or multiple complex chronic conditions. We appreciate CMS's recognition in previous rulemaking of the effects these patient populations have on Medicare Advantage and Part D plans and urge CMS to give similar consideration to the similar effects on the Hospital Compare Star Ratings system.

We are concerned that the Star Rating system may be misleading to consumers due to flaws in the measures that underpin the ratings. Many prominent hospitals that are in the top echelon of other quality rating reports, and handle the most complex procedures and patients, may receive 1 or 2 stars (out of a possible 5), indicating that they have the poorest quality in comparison to all other hospitals. As the Medicare Payment Advisory Commission (MedPAC) and other researchers have noted, these measures are not appropriately adjusted for socioeconomic status and patient complexity.

In addition, CMS has provided insufficient details regarding the methodology used to determine these star ratings and has not provided hospitals with the data used to derive the ratings. As a result, we have heard from hospitals in our states that have been unable to replicate or evaluate CMS's work to ensure that the methodology is accurate or fair. It is clear that additional time is necessary for hospitals and stakeholders to thoroughly review the data and understand the impact of the current methodology to ensure the validity and accuracy of the information before it is publicly released. We respectfully request that you delay release of the star ratings to provide the necessary time to more closely examine the star rating methodology, analyze its impact on different types of hospitals, and provide more transparent information regarding the calculation of the ratings to determine accuracy.

We urge CMS to work with Congress as well as with the hospital community affected by these star ratings to resolve these concerns. Thank you for your consideration of this request. We look forward to your response.

Sincerely,
