The 340B Drug Pricing Program has faced increased criticism from some drug manufacturers. Often times, the benefits of the program are overlooked in these allegations. Come learn first-hand about the ways hospitals are using the 340B program to improve access and quality of care for low income and uninsured patients. Hospital panelists will share how they use the program, why 340B is critical to helping improve patient care, and why it is important to preserve and protect the program.

This event has been structured to comply with the Widely Attended Event exception to the Congressional Gift Ban
