

The Governing Council of the AHA Section for Metropolitan hospitals met September 15-16, 2014 in Washington, DC. Governing Council members were briefed on the current Washington political, legislative, and regulatory policy environment. Members reviewed and discussed several policy issues including principles for payment reform, equity of care, hospital discharge tools, and a two-midnight short stay payment policy. Members also discussed creating a culture of health. A roster of the Section's governing council is available on our Web site.

Washington Legislative

Update: Members received a briefing on the political environment and the upcoming election. They were oriented to the AHA's fall legislative dashboard and shared our message with their members of Congress. Members endorsed the importance of the AHAPAC and the work of the Coalition to Protect America's Health Care to communicate our message to the public.

Washington Regulatory and Policy Update: Governing Council members reviewed and discussed recent rule and policy making and AHA's comments on:

- Payment rules for IPPS, LTCHS and IRF
- Meaningful Use Stage 2
- Cybersecurity
- 340 B Drug Discount Program

Equity of Care (EOC): Members were updated on the work of the AHA's EOC effort and the National Call to Action to Eliminate Health Care Disparities. Member input was provided on how to accelerate progress toward meeting the EOC goals for increasing the collection and use of data on race and ethnicity, increasing cultural competency training, and increasing diversity of leadership and governance.

Principles for Payment Reform: Input and recommendations received from the summer round of governance meetings on payment reform principles were shared with the AHA Board of Trustees in July. Members were asked to discuss a revised set of principles that could serve as a framework for reforming government and private payment systems to achieve the Triple Aim.

Hospital Discharge Tools: The hospital discharge process is the subject of growing attention as hospitals and other stakeholders take steps to improve transitions of care, reduce admissions, and prepare for future reforms such as episode-based payment. Members assessed the range of current hospital discharge practices; how such practices might become more consistent across hospitals; and identified barriers to improving the acute care hospital discharge process. They further discussed changes hospitals are making to improve – and in some cases standardize – the process of discharging patients to post-acute and other settings.

Two Midnights: Short-stay Payment (SSP) Policy: As it exists today, the two-midnight policy does not include a mechanism for accurate and fair reimbursement for medically necessary inpatient stays that span less than two midnights. However, a SSP policy, which would supplement the existing two-midnight policy, could reimburse hospitals more accurately for the resources used to treat beneficiaries alleviate some problems regarding beneficiary cost-sharing. Members were asked to respond to the next steps for creating a short stay payment policy.

Creating a Culture of Health in Communities: AHA's Health Research and Educational Trust (HRET) was awarded a grant from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation to evaluate the roles that hospitals are playing in developing a culture of health within their communities. As part of this work, HRET developed a framework of potential paths hospitals and health care systems can take and summarized successful approaches being used to build a culture of health to address community needs. Members gave input on the hospital role for creating a culture of health within the communities they serve.

AHA Digital Campaigns: The AHA is in the process of launching two digital campaigns to bring attention to the great work happening in hospitals across the country. The first focuses on the continuous improvement in quality and patient safety. The second highlights a digital campaign that shows the new ways we deliver care while working with community partners to keep patients healthy. Members were given a demonstration of AHA's new launch.
