

Rich Miller's Playbook on Data Security:

- If you don't have one already, create an IT Committee to the Board.
- Make data security part of your strategic plan.
- Employ a Chief Information Security Officer (CISO).
- Invest in the necessary technology—Not an option not to be compliant.
- Work with great partners, as secure as you are with goals aligned on security.
- Deliver constant employee education on best practices around data security.
- Develop policy and procedures on how to protect data, but also what to do should a breach occur.
- Partner with an outside organization to do security audits.
