The COVID-19 Snapshot is the American Hospital Association’s look at what America’s hospitals and frontline workers are facing as they provide care during the public health emergency. America’s hospitals and health systems continue to face historic challenges, including unprecedented financial pressures. It is vitally important that hospitals and health systems receive further support and resources to ensure that they can continue to deliver critical care for patients and communities.

FROM THE FRONT LINES

“The omicron surge has created the most critical staffing shortage among hospital staff we have seen during the entire pandemic. I worry that the general public doesn’t think that COVID is a threat to them, that the omicron variant isn’t a threat, but people get very, very sick.”

Greg Crain | President, Baptist Health Medical Center (Ark.)
