Visioning and Strategic Planning for Community Based Partnerships

Healthy Communities Strategy Canvases

This set of five tools will help you organize your thinking, align your team, and design powerful strategies for improving health in your community. In the course of completing this design journey, you will explore the challenges that face community members, the broader context in which everyone is living, the vision that will guide your work, the resources that will be required, and the critical action steps necessary to advance.

EMPATHY MAP WARM-UP CANVAS

Empathy Mapping allows you to zoom in to your community at a persona or person level. The goal is to try and understand what is truly important for these people, so their perspective is included in your community plan. When using the Empathy Map, it's about finding the balance between facts and assumptions.

Focus and Inspiration: A Case Study

The Target Audiences

Leaders and Clinicians

The Challenge

Embedding High Reliability
Principles into our Work
Using Human-Centered
Design

High Reliability Organizations

- Applying tried and tested principles of high reliability to align teams on a process to minimize harm
- A case study example of how human centered design tools can help translate theory into focused improvement work

HRO Observations

It took two+ years to create a level of comfort where conversations can be truly open and candid.

- A skill set that can facilitate open conversation is imperative.
- Leadership commitment and involvement is imperative
 - Top-down approach
 - Need to Incorporate Bottom-up
- An Executive Team Assessment and Action Planning process were both needed to ensure focused action took place.
- Common theme among teams –

Our HRO Process

1. Identify a “Systems Issue”
2. Call out the factors contributing to that issue
3. Apply the principles of HROs to those factors:
 1. Sensitivity to Operations
 2. Commitment to Resilience
 3. Deference to Expertise
 4. Reluctance to Simplify
 5. Preoccupation with Failure
4. Take your systems level issue identified and apply an HRO Quality Improvement Lens
5. Create a Gameplan of activities to move this work forward

Area of Opportunity (Department, Project

What is a process we have witnessed break down?
Is there a system working well in one area that can be adopted to another area?
Where do we have an opportunity to de-stigmatize failure more effectively?

Preoccupation with Failure

How can we become more transparent?
Where can we drop assumptions and ask more questions?
Where do we need to heighten awareness of processes?

Sensitivity to Operations

How do we better integrate the front line staff's knowledge?
How can we better support open communications and questioning?
Where can we refer decision making to the expert knowledge in the process?

Deference to Expertise

What do we need to dig deeper into?
What is a long held belief we need to challenge?
Where can we be more mindful by enhancing our awareness of details?

Reluctance to Simplify

What is an area we can improve better in?
Where do we have an opportunity for better evaluation tools?
What is something we can reconnect the "why" to?

Commitment

- Now that you have outlined your Current State. Apply those identified factors you jotted down to the 5 HRO Principles.
- Don't worry about the definition of the principle itself. Focus on the framing questions under each principle.
- Think of this canvas as allowing you to apply 5 different sets of lenses to the factors you identified contributing to your issue.

Aim Statement Considerations

Your aim statement should be explicit, clear, unambiguous, precise, and plain.

An aim statement should include the following essential components:

- Population
- Goal
- Time Expectation
- Location
- Guidance

Aim Statement example:

- Population
- Goal
- Time Expectation
- Location
- Guidance

*We will increase the diversity of our Board to better represent our patient population by adding 2 Board members in 2022 who are demographically aligned with the majority of our patient population through the guidance of our CEO.

Aim Statement

Measurement

Outcome Measure:
 What you are measuring in your aim statement. The ultimate quantitative number you want to achieve.

Process Measure(s):
 The specific steps in the process that lead to your outcome metric.

Action Steps

Action steps are actionable, specific ideas for achieving your aim

They can come from research, best practices or other organizations that have used the idea (technique) to achieve gains.

Think of your Action Steps as the key activities which must take place in order to achieve your aim statement.
