

American Hospital Association®

Rich Umbdenstock

President & CEO

October 1, 2014

Hospitals prepare for the unknown every day to care for their patients and communities. Every hospital has plans in place to care for patients with infectious diseases and hospitals across the nation have been and will continue to update their policies as we learn more. The AHA has shared the latest CDC guidance with hospitals and will continue to highlight CDC's best practices for Ebola and all infectious diseases.

AHA maintains a special Ebola Preparedness Resources Web page (<http://www.aha.org/ebola>) with up-to-date guidance from the CDC and other authorities, additional helpful resources and more.